We’re looking for the next generation of standout funeral directors.

Do you know a mortuary student who shows special drive and promise? Someone poised to become a leader in the field?

If you do, now’s the time to nominate them for American Funeral Director’s Ones To Watch. Please send the name of the student who you think does more than make the grade, and add a paragraph or two about why they deserve to be singled out. Individuals will be judged on community involvement, professional development, leadership and more.

Why this Award?
Two reasons.

First, AFD believes that developing the next generation of funeral directors is essential in adding real and sustained value to the profession.

Second, this award will ensure that we stay in touch with the people who will be the future leaders of the profession as they advance in their careers.

Who is Eligible?
Exceptional mortuary students who will be graduating in 2020.

Entry Requirements
• Entry Form (on reverse side)
• Typed nomination letter (Maximum 500 words)

Nomination Requirements
Letter Should Include:
• What sets this student apart from his or her peers?
• How this student will make a positive impact on funeral service in the future?
• Examples (if any) of community involvement.
• Any extracurricular activities.

Recognition:
• A Certificate of Recognition
• Recognition in American Funeral Director’s September 2019 Issue
• A complimentary two-year subscription to American Funeral Director magazine

Note:
Students selected to be profiled in our “Ones to Watch” feature will be contacted by our editorial staff in July 2020. Students should be prepared to be interviewed.
